Friends of Kawartha Conservation seeking new board members

(Lindsay, January 5, 2009) Friends of Kawartha Conservation is seeking nominations for new board members at its Annual General Meeting (AGM) being held on January 13, 2009. The AGM will begin at 7 p.m. in the Kawartha Field Centre in Ken Reid Conservation Area (277 Kenrei Rd., Lindsay). Everyone is welcome to attend.

“As some of our board members are retiring, there are new opportunities to participate on the board,” says Bob Allen, Friends of Kawartha Conservation President. “In the new year, we will consider focusing our strengths on fundraising for conservation related initiatives in Durham Region and the City of Kawartha Lakes.”

Over the years, Friends has initiated a wide range of conservation related and fundraising activities. The organization has held dozens of public conservation workshops, recreational hikes, and events at conservation areas, including birdhouse building for children, and has also held numerous fundraisers to support important conservation initiatives throughout the watershed.

Friends of Kawartha Conservation is a registered charitable organization that provides support to Kawartha Conservation. Friends assists with the delivery of conservation and stewardship initiatives that protect and improve our environment for present and future generations.
